

Derek is new at USC and doesn't really know where his classes are at due to not getting an in person orientation because of covid.

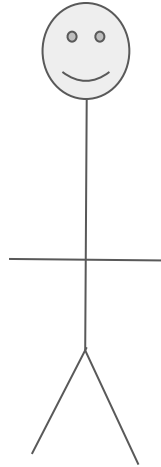

His friend Dillon tells about this new app that has a map of the campus.

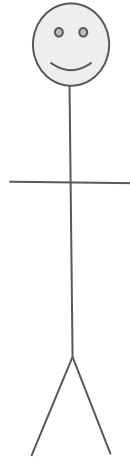

The app is ready to go with an interactive map of the campus.

He uploads his class schedule to the app so he can get directions to his classes easily.

Derek can now find his way to class with this fantastic map app.

Derek is happy because he is no longer worried about being late for class.

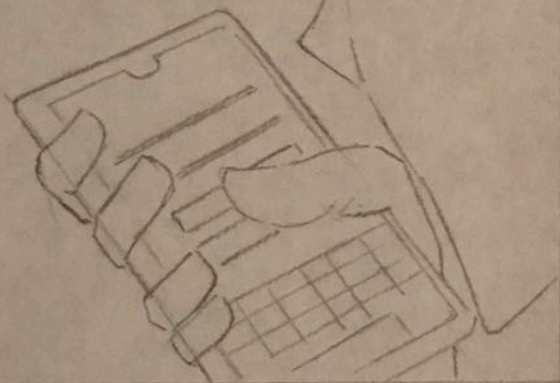

I will be late to class because I did not know traffic existed on this street...

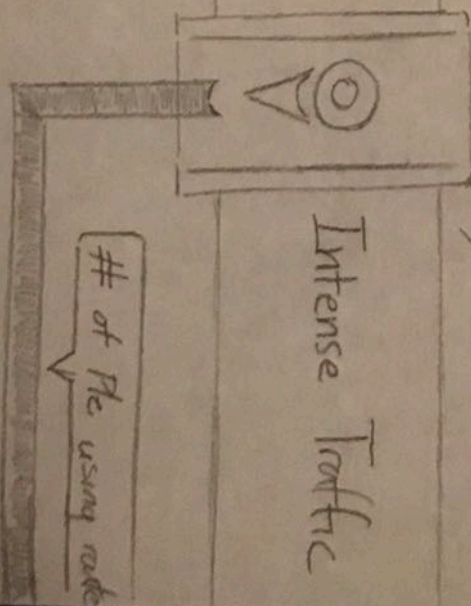

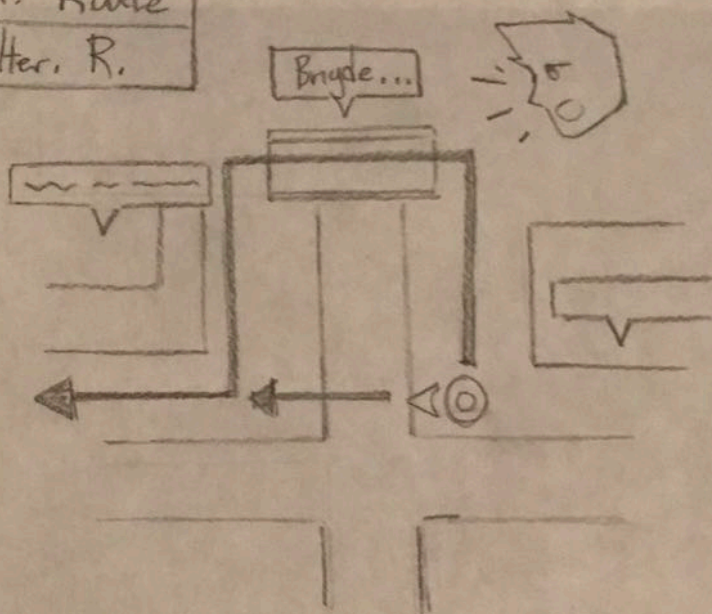

let me see if I can find a faster route?

Jacobe Evan's First Year

- Jacobe is a freshman at the University of South Carolina. Sadly, during COVID, a lot of problems occurred. He can't find his classes, some of his classes are completely online, he's confused on how to pay some of his school-related items. He needs a way of keeping track of his homework, and he has no way of contacting teachers.

Navigating to his classes

- Jacobe lives on a far end of campus and has to get to his class which is on the other side of campus. He can use this app to get directions and shortcuts to get to his class as fast as possible, and it can also help him avoid heavy traffic.

Online Classes

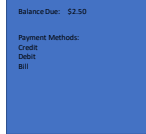

- As many students are having troubles with different methods of online class, Jacobe can use this app to join his virtual classes.

Online Payments

- Jacobe can also use this app to pay for some of his school-related items online, such as books, updating his meal plans, and bills for his school.

Online Weekly Planner

- Since Jacobe has a lot of work for his first year as a student, this app will help him organize his homework, his due dates, best times to do his homework and in which order, and overall make his week easier to get through.

School Index

- Jacobe couldn't ever get in touch with his teachers, but he found a way that may help him. On this app, he could search up and find his teachers and their work emails to get in contact with them.
